Ch.21: from Gearstones – Weathercote – Hurtle Pot – Chapel le Dale – Ingleborough – Ingleton.

Quotes at length from Southey's 'The Doctor', describing Chapel le Dale. Dined with the haymakers at Chapel le Dale. Visits Clapham Cave guided by an old soldier. Permission to the public to pass through the plantation has been withdrawn by Mr Farrer because of the litter, broken bottles, orange peels, greasy paper and wisps of hay all left by picnickers on the grass. Detailed description of Clapham Cave. James Farrer had swum the last murky lake with a candle on his cap and a rope round his body but found it closed by an apparently impassable wall of limestone.

Female visitors were advised to leave their hoops at home.
